

Winners

Winners of four of Hong Kong's six gold medals from the 15th Asian Games in Doha – from left, Chan King-yin (windsurfing), Chan Yun-to (bodybuilding), Cheung King-wai and Wong Kam-po (cycling). In the run-up to hosting the 2009 East Asian Games, Hong Kong is investing in new sports infrastructure, training facilities and programmes.

Above: A gold medal of the Asian Games in Doha.
Right: Cycling gold medallists Cheung King-wai (left) and Wong Kam-po. Bottom: Players compete at the Cathay Pacific Swiss Privilege Hong Kong Squash Open 2006.

Photos: Courtesy of the Sports Federation & Olympic Committee of Hong Kong, China

Upper left: Men's table tennis doubles gold medallists Ko Lai-chak (left) and Li Ching, and (upper right) women's badminton singles winner Wang Chen (right) and silver medallist Yip Pui-yin. Above: The annual School Indoor Rowing Challenge and (right) Hong Kong Equestrian Federation's fun day celebrating the 600-day countdown to the 2008 Olympic Games.

Above left: Basketball is one of the sports of the District Sports Teams Training Scheme, providing intensive coaching and competition opportunities and (above right) a children's sports day organised by the Chinese Sports & Recreation Association. Right: Students' annual wushu performance, part of the School Sports Programme.

